

HALLOWEEN

At the end of October 2015 our school organized Halloween Day. All students dressed up in scary costumes which included sophisticated and impressive make up. The day before Youngster group baked "crazy" pancakes and muffins which we were selling during school breaks. Our tradition that day is collecting the money that we're going to donate to Silesian Hospice for the children. We also planted sixty daffodils which are the symbol of this hospice. During the breaks some girls from Youngster's group made an interview with teachers and students of our school. They asked about history of Halloween and what school society thinks about that foreign celebration. The answers were different and surprising for us. We made a short film about that day and gave it as a present for our sick colleagues. After lessons there was a "movie night" which was a great opportunity to watch horror movies. We all were eating pizza and playing terrifying games. Despite the fact that Halloween isn't Polish traditional day, we had great time and spent it in a really scary way. Not only did we have fun, but we also tried to help very sick children.

Youngsters